

Beth the preschool director at Chesapeake City United Methodist Church answered the door to the church office on Tuesday morning (November 29th) and a gentleman handed her 3 bags of food. When she asked why he was dropping off food, he said that he wanted it to go to the food pantry, which at one time, the CCEA had helped him out, he wanted to give back, and he was sorry that it could not be more. She thanked him for his generosity and he went on his way.

Beth wanted to share this story. The CCEA is such a blessing to our community!
