

Profile in faith: St. Augustine Parish

CECIL WHIG PHOTO BY ADELMA GREGORY-BUNNELL
St. Augustine Parish
Rev. Charlotte Moore of St. Augustine Parish.

CECIL WHIG PHOTO BY ADELMA GREGORY-BUNNELL
St. Augustine Parish

Good Shepherd Church in South Chesapeake City is one of two churches in the St. Augustine Parish.

CECIL WHIG PHOTO BY ADELMA GREGORY-BUNNELL

St. Augustine Parish

St Augustine or The Country Church is one of two churches in the St. Augustine Parish.

Posted: Sunday, April 29, 2012 8:00 am

Profile in faith: St. Augustine Parish By Adelmagregory-bunnell

agregory@cecilwhig.com Cecil Daily |

St Augustine Parish

Founded: 1690

Denomination: Episcopal

Lead Clergy: Charlotte Moore

Congregation: 40

Youth Ministry: Children's Mission Education, Nursery

Services: 9:00 am Sunday

Music: Hymnal, Music Director Mary Kay

Doctrine: God loves you.

About the church: This church and the congregation are unique in the fact that there are two churches in the parish. The Good Shepherd church is used for six months of the year and St. Augustine, referred to as the Country Church, is used the other six months for spring and summer services. Through Labor Day, the congregation worships at St. Augustine on Cayots Corner Road and in the fall and winter they worship at Good Shepherd on George Street in South Chesapeake City.

Contact info: Rev. Charlotte Moore, 410-885-5375, 310 South George Street, Chesapeake City